About Us

Kenton Ross Funerals was established in 1987 by Kenton Poole, who brought with him many years of experience from his work in the funeral industry in Mount Isa. Our now Brisbane-based company is built on his hard work and dedication to the families that entrusted their loved-ones to him. Kenton understood that each funeral belonged to the family and, as such, was able to offer families a uniquely personalised funeral service, tailored to their needs and wishes.

Following his passing in July 2008, Kenton's funeral home has continued to service the families of Kallangur and North-Brisbane under the ownership and operation of his son Jason. Jason and his family strive to continue his legacy and share in the same principles and ethos that have always made Kenton Ross Funerals a caring funeral service.

"We believe in being sensitive to our clients' needs, remembering that the funeral belongs to the family. As such, we aim to provide the most personal and appropriate funeral for each individual that comes into our care, encouraging families to contribute to their loved-ones' service through spoken word, song, photos or whatever they deem appropriate. The funeral service can then become a true reflection of their loved-one's life and truly honours the person that has meant so much to them."

cremation services

Over the years, cremation services have increased across Australia as they are a very affordable alternative to a burial and offer a variety of memorialisation options. After a cremation has taken place, some families choose to scatter their loved-one's ashes in a place special to them, whilst others choose to have the ashes decanted into an urn that will be kept close to them indefinitely. Choosing an appropriate way to memorialise your loved-one is a decision that can take time. That is why Kenton Ross Funeral offers to care for your loved-one until a decision has been made.

We have put together the following cremation options to assist families in understanding the many choices available at Kenton Ross Funerals. Each individual service includes everything necessary for a cremation to take place in the state of Queensland. By choosing one of these options, you can be certain of the package inclusions and the set price. We hope this will be a helpful guide when making a decision that best suits your circumstances and the wishes of your loved-one.

Our staff are also able to customise these packages with options to upgrade or change items if desired. However, pricing may therefore vary. These options can be discussed with your funeral director to ensure we make your loved-one's send off unique and special for all.

Burial services

A burial service can take place in a few different ways. You may choose to begin the service at the cemetery chapel or a local church and then proceed to the graveside, inviting the entire congregation to attend, or perhaps only having family and close friends at the committal. Alternatively, families may choose to have the full service at the graveside with rows of chairs set up across the lawn and portable sound equipment being used to amplify voice and song.

We like to be as flexible as possible when it comes to planning services across multiple sites, so if you have an idea on how you would like the day to run, talk to your funeral director and we'll make it happen. Your funeral director/s will be present on the day to support you, your family and friends as your loved-one is laid to rest.

By choosing one of our burial options, you can be certain of the package inclusions and the set price. We hope this will be a helpful guide when making a decision that best suits your needs, circumstances and the wishes of your loved-one. Our staff are also able to customise these packages, with options to upgrade or change items if desired. However, pricing may therefore vary.

It is important to be aware that certain cemeteries may have particular requirements before they will allow a burial on their grounds. Specific requirements are typically set by small country-town cemeteries that reserve their land for people with family and/or historical ties to their township. Also, each individual cemetery has their own burial/internment fee structures. As such, the prices noted in our packages over leaf do not include those fees. Your funeral director will be able to advise the relevant fees based on your choice of cemetery.

Don't forget that the funeral belongs to you and your family. Don't feel as though you're bound by what you see on this page. In the past, we have opened funeral services with the audio from the Melbourne Cup, printed secret hand-written cookie recipes into the orders of service, parked a motorcycle next to the coffin inside the chapel, invited family and friends forward to write thoughts and prayers on the coffin and much more. The more information you give us, the more we can help you and your family make this farewell a unique one that will be remembered with fondness and love for years to come.
